Instructions: In order to most effectively study grammar, vocabulary, and culture please select 3 different choices in a Tic-Tac-Toe pattern. Only one option from each row may be selected. The expectation is that you study for 15 minutes each night. If you think of a strategy of studying grammar, vocabulary, or culture that is not on the list, please share it with me!

Vocabulary

Srammar

- 1. Call the class Google Voicemail (540-458-1872) and leave a message dictating 20 vocabulary words from our current lesson. The call will ALWAYS go to voicemail and I will check the voicemail to hear your vocabulary dictation.
- 4. On a blank piece of paper imagine it is a blank white board and use it to teach a grammar topic of your choice from your current chapter in the textbook. Make sure to include examples and explanations in your own words.
- 7. Search the country of our current unit on the Internet. Research one famous actor, author, singer, politician, athlete or person of your choice. Write a paragraph describing what makes them famous and why it's important to know as you study the country. Turn in for possible extra credit.

- 2. Create your own minidictionary of our current vocabulary words by using at least half of the words and defining the word by drawing a picture or using the word correctly in a sentence. *You may want to do this on a computer!
- 5. Create a poem or song that teaches a grammar topic from our lesson or unit. The poem or song should be at least 5-6 lines in length. It can be in English but if you write it in Spanish, you will receive extra credit. ©
- 8. Plan a day trip in the country we are studying in our current unit. What attractions (at least 2) are you planning to see? What traditional foods will you plan to eat for your meals? Write a paragraph or two describing your day trip with great description. (Use the Internet or textbook for help.) Turn in for possible extra credit.

- 3. Write a short paragraph of 6-7 sentences using many vocabulary words from our current set. The paragraph must be in Spanish and relate to the vocabulary theme. Turn in the paragraph to Mr. Clark to be checked and possible extra credit.
- 6. Go to Twitter and post a tweet of at least 150 characters. The tweet should be in complete sentences in Spanish using our current grammar topic (i.e. tense, adjectives, etc.) Make sure you include

@LDMSPANISH

9. Using the Internet, encyclopedia, or any other source, create a list of 10 interesting and 'cool' facts about the country we are studying in our current unit. Then, number them from 1-10. 1 being the most interesting and ten the least interesting. In a short paragraph, explain why you numbered them that way. Turn in for possible extra credit.
